

THURSDAY 11 JUNE 2009

BOOK FESTIVAL OFFERS A FEAST OF TALENT

The Edinburgh International Book Festival today launched a packed programme conceived by Festival Director, Catherine Lockerbie. The Festival will bring writers, poets, thinkers, politicians, photographers and artists from 45 different countries to debate, discuss, argue and inspire from 15 to 31 August in the wonderful setting of Charlotte Square Gardens in the historic heart of Edinburgh, the world's first UNESCO City of Literature.

The UK's first female – and Scottish – Poet Laureate, Carol Ann Duffy, will appear on the opening day of the Festival and will be joined by a host of literary talent from around the world. From the USA Garrison Keillor will bring the latest instalment of his immensely popular Lake Wobegon series, George Dawes Green will speak about his first novel for 13 years following the extraordinary success of The Juror – and he will also present his cult storytelling event, The Moth, for the first time in Europe. David Simon and Richard Price, writers of the hit TV series The Wire, will be speaking as will Valerie Martin, Nicholson Baker and poet Sharon Olds. Charlotte Square Gardens will also welcome the winner of the first Arabic Booker Prize, Bahaa Taher from Egypt; Ma Jian from China and Zoya Phan from Burma.

Another international element of the programme welcomes a dozen of Sweden's best contemporary authors, including internationally renowned crime writer Henning Mankell. Some well known, some unknown, and some translated and presented in English for the first time will be in unique dialogue with their UK counterparts.

Margaret Atwood will launch her new novel at the Festival, as will Mathias Malzieu from France and Andrey Kurkov from the Ukraine. From closer to home, Charlotte Square Gardens will also showcase brand new work from Richard Dawkins, William Boyd, Michelin-starred chef Tom Kitchin, stage legend Joss Ackland, A L Kennedy, Irvine Welsh, John Burnside, Michael Mansfield and David Peace among others.

Richard Holloway, Chair of the Scottish Arts Council and 2009 Guest Director of the Edinburgh International Book Festival, has created and will chair a special series of evening debates in the Spiegeltent, bringing together Festival authors with thinkers and experts from across Edinburgh to

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT FRANCES SUTTON, PRESS MANAGER:

frances@edbookfest.co.uk / Tel: 0131 718 5654 / Mob: 07841 579481 / Fax: 0131 226 5335

debate subjects from the economic crisis, childhood, social equality, Islam to the true meaning of happiness.

Holloway said “Scots are an argumentative race, but it is not all contrariness. We have learned during our turbulent history that ideas are dangerous things that need to be tested again and again in debate if they are to enhance rather than enchain the human community. We are proud of the fact that, once again, the EIBF will provide an arena for proposing and challenging ideas on science, religion, politics, and just about anything else that matters to the health of society.”

In this, Scotland’s Year of Homecoming, the Festival welcomes over 200 Scottish authors, and a Celebrating Scotland strand will examine Scottish history, literature, culture, society, and exploration and of course, celebrate our National Bard – Robert Burns. In addition the Festival will explore Scotland’s most exciting creative talent, and introduce some of the finest unpublished fiction and poetry writers from across the creative writing schools of Aberdeen, Dundee, Edinburgh, Glasgow and St Andrews, supported by the Scottish Government’s Edinburgh Festivals Expo Fund.

Mike Russell, Minister for Culture, said “The line up for this year’s Book Festival is truly impressive with Edinburgh yet again playing host to a plethora of literary talent from home and abroad. In this Year of Homecoming, when we aim to reconnect with millions of people with an affinity to Scotland, I am particularly pleased to see this programme embracing Homecoming by celebrating Scotland’s National Bard and examining our history, culture and society.

“I am delighted today to announce £55,000 Expo funding for the Book Festival’s Scotland’s Writing – an exciting and vibrant project which showcases the best of Scotland’s leading and new writers, and celebrates the Scottish diaspora including the strong literary links between Scotland and Canada. Through a series of high quality events, Scotland’s Writing will celebrate and actively promote Scottish literature and focus new attention on the tremendous wealth and talent of our creative writers.”

Full details of the programme can be found at www.edbookfest.co.uk and ticket sales will open at 8.30am on Monday 22nd June. Tickets may be purchased on-line, over the phone (0845 373 5888) or in person on 22nd June at the Edinburgh International Conference Centre, and from Tuesday 23rd June from The Hub on Castlehill.

-ends-

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT FRANCES SUTTON, PRESS MANAGER:

frances@edbookfest.co.uk / Tel: 0131 718 5654 / Mob: 07841 579481 / Fax: 0131 226 5335

Tickets for the 2009 Edinburgh International Book Festival will be available from 8.30am on Monday 22 June 2009.

IN PERSON

On Monday 22nd June from 8.30am to 6.30pm a specially created Box Office will be situated at the Edinburgh International Conference Centre on Morrison Street .

The Box Office will then move to The Hub on the Royal Mile from Tuesday 23 June to Thursday 13 August and will be open from 10.00am to 5.00pm Monday to Saturday.

When the Festival opens on 15 August, the Box Office will be available in Charlotte Square Gardens daily until 31 August 9.30am to 8.30pm

ON-LINE

Tickets may be booked on-line from 8.30am from Monday 22 June at www.edbookfest.co.uk

BY PHONE

Tickets may be booked over the phone on 0845 373 5888.

Phone lines are open on Monday 22 June 8.30am to 6.30pm

From Tuesday 23 June to Friday 14 August lines are open from 10.00am to 5.00pm Monday to Saturday

From Saturday 15 August to Monday 31 August lines are open daily from 9.30am to 8.30pm.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT FRANCES SUTTON, PRESS MANAGER:

frances@edbookfest.co.uk / Tel: 0131 718 5654 / Mob: 07841 579481 / Fax: 0131 226 5335

Kate Atkinson
Carlos Ruiz Zafón
Garrison Keillor
Dave Gorman
Elaine Showalter
Richard Price
Tariq Ali
Jeremy Paxman
Neil Gaiman
Alexander McCall Smith
Cherie Blair
Henning Mankell
David Simon
William Fiennes
David Peace
Griff Rhys Jones
Antony Beevor
Will Self
Gerald Scarfe
Dan Cruickshank
Sebastian Coe
A C Grayling
Christopher Brookmyre
James Kelman
John Carey
Iain Banks
Melvyn Bragg
Alain de Botton
Frank Gardner
Marina Lewycka
Kate Summerscale
Antonia Fraser
Monica Ali
Simon King
Magnus Mills
Raj Persaud
Ma Jian
Gavin Esler
Margaret Drabble
Charley Boorman
Aeronwy Thomas
Joel Joffe
Graham Swift
Paddy Ashdown
Carl Pedersen

And over 650 more

2009 Highlights

- Margaret Atwood launches her new novel, The Year of the Flood, with a unique performance of music and song which will be presented in the inspiring surroundings of St John's Church on Princes Street
- Joining us with much anticipated brand new books are William Boyd, Richard Dawkins, Tom Kitchin, Michael Mansfield, Tracy Chevalier, Liam McIlvanney, Valerie Martin, Nicholson Baker, Colum McCann, Humphrey Hawksley, Alexander McCall Smith, Ian Rankin and Douglas Coupland among others
- One of the most dynamic female politicians of our time, Shirley Williams, will deliver the National Library of Scotland Donald Dewar Lecture
- In this, Scotland's Year of Homecoming, we examine Scottish history, literature, culture, society, and exploration and of course, celebrate our National Bard – Robert Burns
- New volumes of short stories are brought to Charlotte Square by A L Kennedy, Irvine Welsh and Ben Okri
- Giants of British theatre joining us in Charlotte Square Gardens this year include Joss Ackland, Diana Quick, Richard Eyre and Antony Sher
- James Lovelock, creator of the Gaia hypothesis, invigorates the debate on nature and the environment, a strand that includes Richard Hamblyn, Alastair McIntosh, Stuart Sim and Graeme Gibson
- We introduce some of Scotland's newest creative talent, and take a look at some of the finest unpublished writers from across the creative writing schools of Scotland, supported by the Scottish Government's Edinburgh Festival's Expo Fund
- New writing from Africa includes stories from Malawi, Sudan, Eritrea, Nigeria and Zimbabwe
- We explore the implications of the global economic downturn with experts including Vince Cable, Philip Augar, Paul Mason, Gillian Tett, Dan Atkinson and Andrew Simms
- We celebrate the International Year of Astronomy, the 200th anniversary of the birth of Charles Darwin, the 150th anniversary of the birth of Arthur Conan Doyle, the 20th anniversary of the fall of the Berlin Wall, the 70th anniversary of the end of the Spanish Civil War and 10 years of the Scottish Parliament
- Authors visit Charlotte Square Gardens from over 45 countries including Albania, Bosnia, Burma, Canada, China, Colombia, Croatia, Egypt, France, Greece, Iceland, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Netherlands, New Zealand, Pakistan, Poland, Romania, Spain, Sudan, Turkey and Ukraine

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT FRANCES SUTTON, PRESS MANAGER:

frances@edbookfest.co.uk / Tel: 0131 718 5654 / Mob: 07841 579481 / Fax: 0131 226 5335

Thursday 11 June 2009

RBS CHILDREN'S PROGRAMME

A WORLD OF DISCOVERY AWAITS KIDS OF ALL AGES AT EDINBURGH INTERNATIONAL BOOK FESTIVAL

Exploration, adventure and discovery are at the heart of the 2009 RBS Children's Programme of the Edinburgh International Book Festival which was launched today. Interactive events and activities celebrating mankind's greatest scientific achievements allow all age groups, from toddlers to teenagers, to blast off into outer space, tramp through the land of the dinosaurs, solve forensic mysteries or explore the far reaches of our planet. The programme will run as an integral part of the Edinburgh International Book Festival in Charlotte Square Gardens from 15 to 31 August.

Highlights of the programme this year include exclusive peeks at new books from Nick Butterworth, Jeremy Strong, Julia Donaldson, Steve Cole, Michelle Paver and Jenny Nimmo. Ian Rankin will launch his latest venture – Dark Entries – his first graphic novel and will be joined by Sandman author, Neil Gaiman. Jacqueline Wilson returns as do Terry Deary, Michael Morpurgo, Michael Rosen and Darren Shan, while the Festival welcomes for the first time John Burningham, Oliver Jeffers, Patrick Ness, and Judith Kerr.

2009 sees the inaugural Illustrator in Residence join the Book Festival. Catherine Rayner, a Scottish illustrator, nominated twice for the Greenaway Award and winner of the Best New Illustrator, will be involved in a wide range of events throughout the programme, and chair a series of illustration masterclasses. She will also be launching her new book, Ernest. She said "I am delighted to be appointed Illustrator in Residence at this year's Book Festival. I see this post as a great opportunity to raise the profile of illustrators (and to emphasise the value of quality illustration) by celebrating the role of children's books, and the visual arts, within literature."

Sara Grady, Director of the RBS Children's Programme said "Voyages and adventures of all sorts will take place in the heart of Edinburgh this summer. Children will trek across the globe, travel back in time and lose themselves in outstanding stories at this year's Book Festival. Families can discover a vast array of exceptional international, UK and Scottish children's authors and illustrators. Whether it's football or forensics, poetry or graphic novels, we are committed to celebrating stories and ideas with children of all ages. We'll soon be announcing a very special competition in our RBS Children's Programme, so watch this space. Edinburgh is undoubtedly the place for families this August."

-ends-

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT FRANCES SUTTON, PRESS MANAGER:

frances@edbookfest.co.uk / Tel: 0131 718 5654 / Mob: 07841 579481 / Fax: 0131 226 5335